Welcome has to be More Than a Sign

"WELCOME" is an essential ingredient in successful industrial development - that kind of welcome that makes itself known by the tone of the voice, the sparkle of the eye and the warmth of the handclasp. The friendly attitude of welcome on the part of a community often overcomes minor shortcomings in other respects.

A wholehearted welcome, plus physical necessities such as a satisfactory site, transportation, adequate help and raw materials, plus timeliness, make an almost unbeatable combination in industrial development work.

Many Alabama towns have these qualities. Their chambers of commerce and other groups, and our Industrial Development Division, working in cooperation with them, try to bring about that happy meeting of the right man representing the right industry at the right time in the right place to bring about still further industrial development of Alabama.
